

Special/Supplemental Needs Trust Free Workshop Event

Estate planning for families with special needs

Come to this FREE Workshop event to discover how Supplemental Needs Trusts (sometimes called Special Needs Trusts) allow people with mental or physical disabilities, or even people with chronic or acquired illnesses, to have unlimited assets held in Trust for their benefit. If you have a child, grandchild, or even a spouse with a disability, a Supplemental Needs Trust can ensure that they have the funds they need to maintain their lifestyle after you're gone.

Key points that will be covered:

- Naming of Guardians & Adult Conservatorships
- Protecting eligibility for government benefits
- Inheritance protection
- Strategies regarding disinheritance and payback provisions
- Establishing secured standards of living
- Protection of resources and support
- Incapacitation and Health Care Directives

For minor children with disabilities or Special Needs, this workshop offers vital information. Does your child have significant medical concerns? Should the trust allow for birthday gifts for other family members? What about travel expenses to visit loved ones? Do you have a preferred living arrangement for your child? Your child's Special Needs Trust should address all these issues and more.
